Dear Graduate Students,

Phew. You are almost to the end of the semester.

This might be a good time to think about funding opportunities. Are you a climber? We included that opportunity just for fun. Are you interested in doing research in India or France? And artist residency in Joshua Tree? Interested in modeling, simulation, and training? Look below for those and many more.

Tour of TGen and the UA Medical School-Phoenix
Student Engagement and Career Development is excited to again be working with our friends at TGen and the UA Medical School in Phoenix on a tour of their facilities during winter break. As we have done for the last few years, we have made arrangements with the Translational Genomics Research Institute, located in Phoenix. The tour of the TGen facilities will happen in Phoenix over winter break. This opportunity is intended to inform and educate students about the Helios Scholars Program, a paid, eight-week summer internship in biomedical research. Students majoring/interested in the following areas are encouraged to attend: Biochemistry, Bioinformatics, Biology, Biomedical Engineering, Computer Science, Engineering, Mathematics, Microbiology, Molecular and Cellular Biology, Neuroscience & Cognitive Science, Nursing, Public Health, Statistics, Veterinary Science.

- Date: January 9, 2020
- Location: 445 N 5th St, Phoenix, Arizona 85004, United States
- RSVP: Student registration is required through Handshake: https://arizona.joinhandshake.com/events/399735/share_preview

Congressional Hunger Center Emerson National Fellows Program

Congressional Hunger Center (CHC) is invested in developing a movement of anti-hunger leaders who are creating the political will necessary to end hunger. During the 11-month fellowship, Bill Emerson National Hunger Fellows develop a deep understanding of effective solutions to hunger and poverty, and their own roles in achieving Zero Hunger in the United States. Following orientation and field training in Washington, D.C., Emerson Fellows spend five months with community-based organizations throughout the United States. In mid-February fellows return to Washington for a second placement with organizations and government agencies focused on national anti-hunger and anti-poverty policy. Throughout the fellowship, fellows hone essential skills and form a strong professional cohort through in-person trainings, retreats, and professional development sessions.

Joseph L. Fisher Doctoral Dissertation Fellowships

Resources for the Future (RFF) awards academic fellowships in support of doctoral dissertation research on issues related to the environment, natural resources, or energy. Awardees will be invited to give a presentation of their research at RFF. RFF’s primary research disciplines are economics and other social sciences, and proposals originating in these fields will have the greatest likelihood of success. Proposals from the physical or biological sciences must have an immediate and obvious link to environmental policy matters.

- Deadline: To be announced
- Citizenship: U.S. citizenship or permanent residency

Legacy Award of the Victims of Pan Am Flight 103, Inc.

The Legacy Award of Victims of Pan Am Flight 103, Inc. was established in 2017 to remember the 270 lives lost in the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103 on December 21, 1988. The Legacy Award supports students pursuing advanced degrees in areas of study related to improved national security and terrorism prevention as they prepare for careers focused on keeping citizens safe from the threats of terrorism and preventing the deaths of innocent men, women, and children. Awards will provide up to $5,000 per year, per student.

- Deadline: February 21, 2020 (application due); February 28, 2020 (letters of recommendation due)

Funding Opportunities in the Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences

Andrew W. Mellon Foundation Predoctoral Awards in Women’s History

The two recipients of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation Predoctoral Awards in Women’s History should have a strong interest in women’s and public history and the applications of these fields outside the academy. Functioning as research associates and providing programmatic support for N-YHS’s Center for Women’s History, pre-doctoral awardees will assist in the development of content for the Women’s History exhibitions, associated educational curriculum, and on-site experiences for students, scholars, and visitors. The Predoctoral Awardees, whose work at N-YHS may not directly correspond with their dissertation research, will be in residence part time at the New-York Historical Society for one academic year, between September 9, 2020, and August 28, 2021, and will receive a stipend of $20,000 per year.

- Deadline: January 3, 2020

Art Conservation Fellowships at the Samuel H. Kress Foundation

The purpose of the Kress Conservation Fellowship program is to provide a wide range of post-graduate fellowship opportunities that will help develop the skills of emerging conservators. At the crossroads of science and art, the fields of conservation and technical art history demand a complex knowledge of chemistry and materials and an extraordinary sensitivity to artistic intent, as well as physical dexterity, patience, and powers of concentration. Initial training, typically at one of a handful of institutions in North America, provides basic qualifications that must be supplemented with an extended period of specialized concentration on paintings, objects, textiles, antiquities, ethnic materials, photographs, prints and drawings, books and manuscripts, furniture, etc. Within a supervised environment, the young conservator develops the specific skills, the hands-on experience, and the confidence on which to base a future career.

- Deadline: January 22
- Citizenship: Unspecified
- Website: http://www.kressfoundation.org/fellowships/conservation/

Center for Retirement Research at Boston College Dissertation Fellowships

The Center for Retirement Research at Boston College sponsors the annual Dissertation Fellowship Program in the field of retirement or disability research. The program is funded by the U.S. Social Security Administration and provides funding opportunities for doctoral candidates to pursue cutting-edge research on retirement or disability issues. Research focal areas include: Trends in disability and survey issues; Informing long-term projections and models; State and local pensions for non-covered workers; Actuarial adjustment of benefits; Economic effects of totalization agreements; Measuring sources of income; Risks and resources in older age; Induced entry; Opioids; and Claimant representatives.

Council of American Overseas Research Centers (CAORC) Multi-Country Research Fellowship Program

The CAORC Multi-Country Research Fellowship Program supports advanced regional or transregional research in the humanities, social sciences, or allied natural sciences for US doctoral candidates and scholars who have already earned their PhD. Preference will be given to candidates examining comparative and/or cross-regional research. Scholars must carry out research in two or more countries outside the US, at least one of which hosts a participating American overseas research center. Approximately eight awards of up to $11,000 each will be given each year.

- Deadline: January 23, 2020
- Citizenship: U.S. citizenship
- Website: https://www.caorc.org/fellowships

Davis-Putter Scholarship for Social Change

The Davis-Putter Scholarship Fund aids people active in movements for social and economic justice. These need-based scholarships are awarded to students who are able to do academic work at the college or university level or are enrolled in a trade or technical program and who are active in the progressive movement. Early recipients worked for civil rights, against McCarthyism and for peace in Vietnam. Recent grantees have been active in the struggle against racism, sexism, homophobia and other forms of oppression; building the movement for economic justice; and creating peace through international anti-imperialist solidarity. Applicants must have participated in activities in the US, and there is a strong preference for applicants who plan on working in this country.

- Deadline: April 1
- Citizenship: Unrestricted
- Website: http://www.davisputer.org/apply-for-scholarships/

Forum for Theological Exploration (FTE) Fellowships for Latino/a, Asian, & First Nations Doctoral Students
Financial support for doctoral students of Latino/a, Asian, Pacific Islands or First Nations descent who have completed the course work stage of their Ph.D. or Th.D. program in religion, theological studies or biblical studies.

- Deadline: February 1, 2020
- Citizenship: U.S. or Canadian citizenship or permanent residency

Harry Frank Guggenheim Foundation Dissertation Fellowships

These fellowships are designed to contribute to the support of the doctoral candidate to enable him or her to complete the thesis in a timely manner and are only appropriate for students approaching the final year of their Ph.D. work. Questions that interest the foundation concern violence and aggression in relation to social change, intergroup conflict, war, terrorism, crime, and family relationships, among other subjects. Dissertations with no relevance to understanding human violence and aggression will not be supported. Priority will also be given to areas and methodologies not receiving adequate attention and support from other funding sources.

- Deadline: February 1, 2020
- Citizenship: Unrestricted

Herbert Scoville Jr. Peace Fellowship (Internship)

The Herbert Scoville Jr. Peace Fellowship, established in 1987, is a highly-competitive national fellowship program that provides recent college and grad school graduates with the opportunity to gain a Washington perspective on key issues of peace and security. Twice yearly, the fellowship's Board of Directors selects a group of outstanding individuals to spend six to nine months in Washington. Supported by a salary, the fellows serve as full-time junior staff members at the participating organization of their choice.

- Deadline: January 6, 2020
- Citizenship: Unrestricted. However, one must be eligible to work in the U.S.
- Website: http://scoville.org/

Josephine de Karman Fellowship

The Josephine de Karman Fellowship Trust was established in 1954 by the late Dr. Theodore von Karman, world renowned aeronautics expert and teacher and first director of the Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, in memory of his sister, Josephine, who died in 1951. The purpose of this fellowship program is to recognize and assist students whose scholastic achievements reflect Professor von Karman’s high standards. DeKarman fellowships are open to students in any discipline, including international students, who are currently enrolled in a university or college located within the United States. Only candidates for the PhD who will defend their dissertation by June 2021 are eligible and special considerations for candidates in the Humanities.

- Deadline: January 31, 2020
- Citizenship: International students may apply if enrolled in a US institution.

Joshua Tree Highlands Artist Residency

Founded in 2007, JTHAR is a nonprofit artist residency that fosters creativity through opportunities for exploring, experimenting, quiet reflection, engagement and cross-cultural exchange with the vibrant local artist community. We establish spaces where inspiration happens on a daily basis, so artists can do the work of innovating, changing the cultural landscape and generating a fresh look at the way we connect to each other and to the world. Each year we invite 4-6 artists from around the world to create work amidst the beauty of Joshua Tree National Park. The Group Artist Residency period is seven weeks: April 28 - June 16, 2020. Artists unable to attend the group Residency Program may apply for a 6 week individual stay at JTHAR. Make sure to choose your dates from the following list if you are applying for the 6 week solo program: June 29, 2020 - August 10, 2020; August 24 2020 – October 5, 2020; January 20, 2021 - March 2, 2021.

Mellon Fellowships for Dissertation Research in Original Sources: General Fellowships

The Council on Library and Information Resources (CLIR) is pleased to offer fellowships generously funded by The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation for dissertation research in the humanities or related social sciences using original sources. The purposes of this fellowship program are to: help junior scholars in the humanities and related social sciences gain skill and creativity in developing knowledge from original sources; enable dissertation writers to do research wherever relevant sources may be, rather than just where financial support is available; encourage more extensive and innovative uses of original sources in libraries, archives, museums, historical societies, and related repositories in the U.S. and abroad; and capture insights into how scholarly resources can be developed for access most helpfully in the future.

- Deadline: To be announced
- Citizenship: Unrestricted

Native American Artist Fellowships
The Indian Arts Research Center (IARC) offers three artist-in-residence fellowships annually to advance the work of established and emerging Native American artists. Each fellowship includes a monthly stipend, housing, studio space, a supplies allowance, full access to the IARC collections, and travel reimbursement to and from SAR. These fellowships provide time for artists to explore new avenues of creativity, grapple with new ideas to further advance their work, and strengthen existing talents. The fellowships support diverse creative disciplines and can include sculpture, performance, basketry, painting, printmaking, digital art, mixed media, photography, pottery, writing, and film and video. However each fellowship has specific applicant criteria as indicated on the website linked below.

- Deadline: January 15
- Citizenship: People indigenous to North America and its current outlying territories. This includes Canada, the United States, and Mexico.

NSF Law & Social Sciences Doctoral Dissertation Research Improvement Grants
The Law & Science Program considers proposals that address social scientific studies of law and law-like systems of rules, as well as studies of how science and technology are applied in legal contexts. The Program is inherently interdisciplinary and multi-methodological. Successful proposals describe research that advances scientific theory and understanding of the connections between human behavior and law, legal institutions, or legal processes; or the interactions of law and basic sciences, including biology, computer and information sciences, STEM education, engineering, geosciences, and math and physical sciences. Scientific studies of law often approach law as dynamic, interacting with multiple arenas, and with the participation of multiple actors. Fields of study include many disciplines.

- Deadline: January 15, 2020 and August 3, 2020
- Citizenship: Unrestricted

U.S. Army Center of Military History Dissertation Fellowships

Fellowships support scholarly research and writing among qualified civilian graduate students preparing dissertations in the history of warfare, the Center offers three Dissertation Fellowships each year. One, funded by the National Museum of the U.S. Army, is designed to support dissertations that explore the material culture of the Army; the two others support research in the more general areas of military history in all its many aspects. In your application please specify if you wish to compete for the two general fellowships or for the Museums fellowship. These fellowships carry a $10,000 stipend and access to the Center’s facilities and technical expertise. For purposes of this program, the history of war on land is broadly defined, including such areas as biography, military campaigns, military organization and administration, policy, strategy, tactics, weaponry, technology, training, logistics, and the evolution of civil-military relations. In the selection of proposals for funding, preference is given to topics on the history of the U.S. Army.

Winterthur Fellowships (National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship, Dissertation Fellowships, and Short-term Fellowships)

Winterthur offers unparalleled access to a wealth of museum, garden, and library collections supporting material culture research. As an interdisciplinary center for collections-based scholarship and conservation, Winterthur encourages researchers to explore and immerse themselves in holistic and intimate inquiry from a wide range of disciplines. We welcome new and critical approaches to a broad range of scholarly topics, including: material culture studies, social and cultural history, art history, literary studies, American studies, design history, the decorative arts, landscape architecture and design, consumer culture, and conservation studies covering global topics from the 17th to the 20th centuries. All applicants are strongly encouraged to search Wintercat, visit Winterthur, and contact staff members to discuss potential research projects.

Funding Opportunities in Science and Engineering

APS Congressional Science Fellowship

It is the aim of the APS and AIP in sponsoring these fellowships to provide a public service by making available individuals with scientific knowledge and skills to Members of Congress, few of whom have a technical background. In turn, the program enables scientists to broaden their experience through direct involvement with the legislative and political processes. Fellowships are for one year, usually running September through August. Following a two-week orientation in Washington sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, incoming Congressional Fellows become acquainted with most aspects of their future work environment.

Biochemical Markers Summer Fellowship

Multiple research opportunities are currently available in the Division of Laboratory Sciences (DLS) within the National Center for Environmental Health (NCEH) at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) in Atlanta, Georgia. DLS provides laboratory support that improves the detection, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of environmental, tobacco-related, nutritional, newborn, selected chronic and selected infectious diseases. DLS also works to improve the rapid and accurate detection of chemical threat agents, radiologic threat agents, and selected toxins. Collaborating with a multidisciplinary team, the selected participant will use state-of-the-art laboratory equipment to address topics relevant to public health. This will allow the participant to gain hands-on experience in applied analytical chemistry and enhance their knowledge of its applications to public health. Opportunities may include: Developing and applying new analytical methods aimed at characterizing and quantitating biochemical markers that are relevant in environmental exposures and chronic diseases using analytical techniques such as LC-MS/MS, GC-MS, and others; Assessing a variety of markers in biological specimens (such as serum or urine); Developing reference materials. Students will receive $3,600 per month for full-time graduate student fellows.

Center for Disease Control/Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists Applied Epidemiology Fellowship Program

Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists (CSTE), in collaboration with CDC, the Association of Schools and Programs of Public Health (ASPPH), and the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), established the Applied Epidemiology Fellowship to train recent graduates in the expanding field of applied epidemiology. The goal of the Fellowship is to provide a high quality training experience and to secure long-term career placement for Fellows at the state or local level. Participating fellows will receive two years of on-the-job training at a state or local health agency under the guidance of an experienced mentor. The Fellowship’s mission is to meet the nation’s ongoing need for applied epidemiology workforce capacity in state and local health departments through a national fellowship-training program.

Chateaubriand Fellowship–Science, Technology, Engineering & Mathematics (STEM)
The Chateaubriand Fellowship is a grant offered by the Embassy of France in the United States. It supports outstanding Ph.D. students from American universities who wish to conduct research in France for a period ranging from 4 to 9 months. The Chateaubriand Fellowship in Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics & Biology-Health (STEM) for doctoral students aims to initiate or reinforce collaborations, partnerships or joint projects between French and American research teams. This fellowship is offered by the Office for Science & Technology (OST) of the Embassy of France in partnership with American universities and French research organizations such as Inserm and Inria. It is a partner of the National Science Foundation’s GROW program.

- Deadline: January 7, 2020

International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis Young Scientists Summer Program

The International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis (IIASA) is an international scientific institute that conducts research into the critical issues of global environmental, economic, technological, and social change that we face in the twenty-first century. Since 1977, IIASA’s annual 3-month Young Scientists Summer Program (YSSP) offers research opportunities to talented young researchers whose interests correspond with IIASA’s ongoing research on issues of global environmental, economic and social change. From June through August accepted participants work within the Institute’s research programs under the guidance of IIASA scientific staff. Funding is provided through IIASA’s National Member Organizations.

Summer Student Experience: Human Research and Engineering Directorate

CCDC Army Research Laboratory (ARL) Research Associateship Program (RAP) Summer Student Experience is an educational program that allows undergraduate through PhD students and recent Bachelor and Master’s degree graduates to participate in a paid research experience at a Department of Defense laboratory over the summer break. A candidate must be in good standing (a minimum of a 2.5 GPA) at an accredited university or technical institute, and in an academic program leading to an undergraduate or graduate degree. Scientists and engineers at ARL help shape and execute the Army’s program for meeting the challenge of developing technologies that will support Army forces in meeting future operational needs. Students can participate in research in one of the following areas: Computational and Information Sciences Directorate (CISD), Human Research and Engineering Directorate (HRED), Sensors and Electron Devices Directorate (SEDD), Vehicle Technology Directorate (VTD), Weapons and Materials Research Directorate (WMRD).

Burroughs Wellcome Fund (BWF) Postdoctoral Enrichment Program (PDEP)

Postdoctoral Enrichment Program (PDEP) provides support for career development activities for fellows whose training and professional development are guided by mentors committed to helping them advance to stellar careers in biomedical or medical research. The primary goal of the PDEP is to substantially enhance the postdoctoral training and experience of underrepresented minority junior scientists. Funds will be provided to support the following enrichment activities: 1. Activities for the postdoctoral fellow to enhance research productivity, e.g. workshops, courses, travel, collaborations, and training in new techniques; 2. Activities for the postdoctoral mentor to increase the mentoring of PDEP fellows in university-based programs: career guidance of the underrepresented minority postdoctoral fellow, research guidance that increases the productivity of the PDEP fellow, and attendance at one annual meeting of mentors hosted by the Burroughs Wellcome Fund (BWF); and 3. Participation in a peer network system of underrepresented minority postdoctoral scholars.

CDC Behavioral Sciences Fellowship

A research opportunity is currently available with the Travelers' Health Branch (THB), Division of Global Migration and Quarantine (DGMQ), within the National Center for Emerging and Zoonotic Infectious Diseases (NCEZID) at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) located in Atlanta, Georgia. THB’s mission is to enhance the health and safety of U.S. travelers and U.S. citizens living abroad by using new data sources, surveillance systems, and analytical models to articulate global risk assessments and provide the most appropriate risk reduction recommendations for destinations across the globe. Under the guidance of a mentor, the selected participant will gain training in surveillance and epidemiological study design, development, conduct, and analysis of travel-related diseases (i.e. dengue, malaria, Zika, yellow fever) on its causes, risk factors and medical treatment and recommendations. The participant will also be involved with various activities within the branch, including systematic assessment of program or project’s activities, processes, inputs, outputs, and outcomes to determine program value, worth, and improvement; Global Situational Awareness Report and Travel Health Notice processes and postings. The participant will use their theoretical knowledge and learn to identify and define the behavioral and social science aspects of public health issues, problems and opportunities through the hands on application of rigorous data collection, surveillance methods and statistical techniques; and assess risk and protective factors for travel health outcomes in the social and physical environment including individual, interpersonal, organizational, community, and societal levels.

Human-Centered Design Postdoctoral Fellow

We are seeking a post-doctoral scholar with expertise in human-centered design and mixed methods research to collaborate on a new study that aims to evaluate how self-injection (SI) of the contraceptive method DMPA-SC (depot medroxyprogesterone acetate administered subcutaneously) can be implemented to support informed contraceptive choice and use from the perspective of women in Kenya, Malawi, Nigeria, and Uganda. This study is designed to obtain a deeper understanding of women’s contraceptive decision-making and identify promising approaches to help unlock the full potential of SI to meet women’s needs and support reproductive autonomy. Through a spectrum of different research methods to be implemented in Kenya, Malawi, Nigeria, and Uganda, we will: 1) explore which women are most likely to be interested in using SI; 2) identify and test promising program implementation approaches across a variety of settings, channels, and user groups that directly support the needs of women who can benefit from SI to access and effectively use it; and 3) investigate the relationship between SI and sexual and reproductive empowerment and autonomy.

Population Council Pre- and Postdoctoral Biomedical Fellowships

The Population Council has a long history of providing training and mentorship for young professionals in public health, social science, and biomedical research. Fellowships strengthen the capacity of students and professionals around the world to identify, investigate, and address problems in their own countries. The work of Council fellows has shaped population and health policies and programs and contributed to the development of cutting-edge products for contraception and HIV prevention. The Population Council offers pre- and postdoctoral biomedical fellowships for advanced study in basic and translational reproductive sciences and HIV and AIDS. Fellows train in the laboratories of the Council’s Center for Biomedical Research located on the campus of The Rockefeller University in New York City.

Washington University in St. Louis School of Medicine Postdoctoral Fellowship in Genetic Epidemiology
The primary objective of this post-doctoral research training program is to produce cutting edge independent scientists and future research leaders in genetic epidemiology. The program is proposing to do this in a multidisciplinary setting and with emphasis on substantive applied orientation in cardiovascular disease (CVD) and CVD risk factors and other complex traits related to heart, lung, and blood disorders. The program team believes that the research environment at Washington University is outstanding for carrying out research in genetic epidemiology and cardiovascular genetic epidemiology. Background in one or more areas among biostatistics, statistical genetics, genetic epidemiology, and bioinformatics is highly desirable. Candidates with research interests in the development of novel analytic methods in genetic epidemiology are particularly encouraged to apply.

Zuckerman STEM Leadership Program Israeli Postdoctoral Scholars

The Zuckerman Israeli Postdoctoral Scholars Program provides additional support to Israeli PhD graduates who have been accepted to a postdoctoral program with a stipend at an American university. Preferably, candidates should apply to a university that provides more specialized training than they would find in Israel. Zuckerman Israeli postdoctoral scholars enjoy programming and activities specially organized for them by the Zuckerman STEM Leadership Program. Scholars are expected to return to the home campuses from which they earned their doctorates, and to visit other universities, where they will give talks and be interviewed by faculty and PhD students. They should share insights about their research and about the experience of collaborating with scientists in the United States.
