Center for Disease Control Summer Graduate Environmental Health Internship
The Graduate Environmental Health program (GEH) is a paid ten week summer internship available for graduate students with majors or interests deemed to be in support of environmental health missions at NCEH/ATSDR. During the program interns will be assigned to projects that utilize the skills they’ve acquired through graduate studies and personal experiences. Interns will also be able to take advantage of lecture series and other opportunities offered at the CDC. Interns will receive a weekly stipend while participating in this program. The mission of the internship is to offer selected students a broad overview of environmental health at the federal level and to foster an interest in environmental health as a career. Applicants should have a passion for the environment and an eagerness to learn about the environment’s link to human health.
Eligibility: U.S. citizen or Permanent Resident with green card
Deadline: February 25

Microsoft Research FUSE Labs Internships
FUSE Labs is a research and development lab at Microsoft Research focused on the design, study, and development of socio-technical systems. We are a multidisciplinary team where you will have the opportunity to work with developers, designers, and other researchers interested in building systems and studying them critically. Our goals are to contribute to the academic community as well as to invent the next generation of social technologies.
Some of the topics that are currently of interest for FUSE Labs are crowdsourcing, civic tech, peer economy, creative learning, connected devices and experiences.
Eligibility: Graduate students from Computer Science (HCI, and social computing), Design (Participatory/Media Design Practices, Design Futures, User Experience & Interaction Design), Information Science, and other fields at the intersection of humans and technology.
Citizenship: Unrestricted
Deadline: Consideration of internship applications begins on January 30

Funding Opportunities in the Humanities/Arts/Social Sciences
Arthur and Elizabeth Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America
Dissertation Grants – Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study
The Arthur and Elizabeth Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America invites scholars whose dissertation research requires use of the library's collections to apply for research support. Applications will be evaluated on the significance of the research and the project's potential contribution to the advancement of knowledge as well as its creativity in drawing on the library's holdings. Grants of up to $3,000 will be given on a competitive basis.
Citizenship: unrestricted
Deadline: March 21, 2014

National Endowment for the Arts and National Parks Service "Imagine Your Parks" Grants
To mark the 50th anniversary of the NEA in 2015, and the National Park Service's (NPS) Centennial in 2016, both agencies are working together to encourage the creation of and greater public engagement with art relating to the work and mission of our national park system. Through the Art Works category, we encourage projects that engage communities with and relate the arts to these memorable places and the landscapes they preserve. We also invite a new generation of Americans to find their park. Projects might include the commissioning and presentation of new work in or near one of these locations, or festivals in these settings.
Citizenship: Applicant must be an organization

National Academies Research Associateship Program
The mission of the NRC Research Associateship Programs (RAP) is to promote excellence in scientific and technological research conducted by the U. S. government through the administration of programs offering graduate, postdoctoral, and senior level research opportunities at sponsoring federal laboratories and affiliated institutions. In these programs, prospective applicants select a research project or projects from among the large group of opportunities listed on this website. Prior to completing an application, prospective applicants should contact the proposed Research Adviser to assure that funding will be available if their application is recommended by NRC panels. Once mutual interest is established between a prospective applicant and a Research Adviser, an application is submitted through the NRC WebRap system.
Citizenship: Depends on position
Deadline: Reviews are conducted four times each year and review results are available approximately 6-8 weeks following the application deadline.

Deadline: February 2
Wellcome Trust Fellowships in Public Health and Tropical Medicine
This scheme provides researchers from low- and middle-income countries - who are at an early stage in the establishment of their research careers - with opportunities for research experience and high-quality research training in public health and tropical medicine. Research projects should be aimed at understanding and controlling diseases (either human or animal) of relevance to local, national or global health. This can include laboratory-based molecular analysis of field or clinical samples, but projects focused solely on studies in vitro or using animal models will not normally be considered under this scheme. This fellowship is part of a series of career awards aimed at building sustainable capacity in areas of research that have the potential for increasing health benefits for people and their livestock in low- and middle-income countries.
Citizenship: Must be a national or legal resident of a low- and middle-income country (see website)
Deadline: April 29 (pre-application required)
